

King's Mongkut University of Technology Thonburi³; School of Radiological Technology, Chulabhorn Royal Academy⁴; Chula Neuroscience Center, King Chulalongkorn Memorial Hospital, Thai Red Cross Society⁵; Cognitive Clinical and Computational Neuroscience Center of Excellence, Faculty of Medicine, Chulalongkorn University⁶

- color, texture) and high-level information (e.g. object recognition) influence choices.
- are highly correlated.
- used to dissociate low- and high-level visual information¹.

Hierarchical Prefrontal Contributions to Perceptual Decision-making

